

Bulgaria faces significant challenges in relation to climate adaptation, including increased vulnerability to extreme weather events and economic risks from. Bulgaria's summer 2025 was one ...

GENEVA, July 24 - The Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change will meet for its 61 st Plenary Session in the Bulgarian capital, Sofia, from 27 July to 2 August.

The decision to select this site was reached after a thorough analysis of the municipality's needs, a review and compliance with the existing strategic documents of the Sofia City municipality ...

Delegates at the 61st meeting of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) in Sofia, Bulgaria have failed to agree on a timeline for the upcoming seventh assessment report.

Sofia is the largest urban and industrial center in Bulgaria, in which the anthropogenic impact on the climate is the most highly expressed. Some of the peculiarities of urban climate in ...

The heat waves in 2023/2024 highlighted the urgent need to enhance society's preparedness and adaptive capacity to cope with climate change impacts and foster resilience at the city level. ...

Climate change is not globally uniform and affects some regions more than others. On the following diagrams, you can see how climate change has already affected the region of Sofia during the past ...

Sofia Climate Neutrality Action Plan has been developed as a holistic document providing integrated vision of the measures needed to achieve climate neutrality and to adapt to climate change.

The current climate change severity in Sofia is Moderate, with a -17.9% improvement in the climate score compared to last 15 years. This suggests improved conditions, with more favorable ...

Web: <https://thehibiscuscoast.co.za>