

The latest planning scheme for photovoltaic panels is announced

Builders will be required to fit solar panels to the "vast majority" of new build homes in England under changes to be published this year, Energy Secretary Ed Miliband has said.

Ministers are publishing the Future Homes Standard this autumn and have confirmed today (Friday 6 June) that solar panels will be included, leading to installation on the vast majority of ...

In a landmark move for the housing sector, the UK government has confirmed that rooftop solar panels will be a "default" feature on new build homes under the upcoming Future Homes ...

In December 2024, the government published its Clean Power 2030 Action Plan, which set how it intends to meet the 2030 target. This included a target for the installation of 45-47 gigawatts (GW) of ...

The UK government has confirmed that new build homes will be mandated to include solar panels, potentially saving homeowners £530 ($719.14) annually on energy bills, based on current ...

The government announced that the plan, published on Wednesday, will focus on funding solar panels, heat pumps and batteries for households across the UK via low-interest loans and grants.

The UK Government has officially announced its 2027 solar mandate, requiring solar panels to be installed on nearly all new homes in England starting in 2027.

Families could save around £500 a year on their energy bills by installing rooftop solar panels as part of the government's rooftop revolution - making working people better off through the...

The UK government has confirmed that the Future Homes Standard will be published this autumn, making it clear that new homes will require solar panels as standard.

The latest planning scheme for photovoltaic panels is announced

Web: <https://thehibiscuscoast.co.za>